

Question 4

The probability that a person gets a certain virus is equal to 0.001. What is the probability that in a group of 1000 people more than one person will get the virus in question?